The first event of it's kind for the global hygiene industry

The COVID-19 pandemic has underlined the crucial role that the use of hygiene products has to play now, and will continue to play well into the future.

To support this critically important industry and help buyers source the products they need, the Future Hygiene Products Virtual Fair will bring together thousands of professionals involved in the supply and purchase of hygiene equipment right along the supply chain.

Without the constraints or worries of international travel, this two day B2B event will provide an important platform for stakeholders to meet, share information, view products and make new contacts right around the world.

The entire event will be hosted on our event app, which you can access via your mobile, tablet, laptop or desktop.

C&M has the highest individually requested circulation of any publication in the cleaning industry.

As an Exhibition Organiser and the Official Publication for the Major Associations we are able to regularly update and add to our circulation – with the types of readers you want to reach – Key Decision Makers.

C&M's new format is unique too. It's new size still sets it apart from any other publication in the market, and offers advertisers and readers a large page format but in a traditional magazine style.

Each issue of Cleaning & Maintenance offers readers a well researched mixture of news, personnel changes, contract information, product updates, and association news - including exclusive columns from the British Cleaning Council, the British Institute of Cleaning Science, and the Worshipful Company of Environmental Cleaners.

Frequently Asked Questions

What are the benefits of providing promotions in Whova?

The new feature provides another way for you to engage with attendees and gain more leads. You can attract more visitors to your booth even before the event starts.

What information do I need to provide?

Currently we support two types of promotional information: Raffles/giveaways and coupons. For raffles/giveaways, you will need to provide a description and simple rules if you have any. For coupons, in addition to the description, you will also need to provide the coupon image.

Do I have to participate? What if I don't have any promotions?

No, you don't have to participate. If you don't have any promotions, you will still be listed as a regular exhibitor in the app.

How do I know who requested and received my promotion information? How can I announce the winners?
